Course Description:

The opening chapters of Genesis are foundational to our understanding of all things and to the revelation of God in the rest of Scripture, and His revelation begins with His creation of all things, including Man. Having created the universe for Man to live in, God then created Man as His final great work of creation on the sixth day.

In Genesis chapter 2, God goes on to reveal to us more about the sixth and final day of creation including details about the Garden of Eden and the creation of Man. In so doing, God begins to show us His sovereign purposes and 'grand design' for His creation and our place within it.

Learn about God's grand design for Man and creation.
